

SOLE RESPONSIBILITY

In 2014 when Simon and Helen Payne were just two ordinary parents, juggling work-life balance when they had an idea to start a new business which would allow them to spend more time at home with their children. What began with countless hours and weekends trawling car boots and markets to find stock to sell on eBay, soon Helen and Simon started to pioneer a sustainable method of resale. In 2021 they became a sustainable partner with JD Sports.

With increased success, the company is growing day by day, their husband and wife duo soon became a team of nine employees with plans to expand even more! Of course, not forgetting the cutest member of staff Custard, the 'family' dog who enjoys being part of the team.

An important part of their business plan from a responsible perspective is helping local people get back on their feet and give them an opportunity to get back into employment. Over the last 6 months Halifax Opportunities Trust have formed a fantastic working relationship with Sole Responsibility and supported them by helping with their recruitment.

So far, 5 of our Inspire project participants have secured full and part time roles in the organisation in various roles from warehouse to photography.

The business hopes to offer more opportunities in the future as it grows. If you have good IT and communication skills, a willingness to work hard and reach targets then please get in touch by email employment@regen.org.uk or ring Jo on 07891 956062.
